FOUNDATION ARCHIVE • IMAGE GENERATION BRIEF

Logo and OG image direction for a preservation-first art archive.

Project voice

The product already points toward an editorial, archival, and cultural-institution tone rather than a loud tech brand. The core idea is preservation, trust, legibility, and care for artists' work.

Key cues pulled from the product:

- Independent preservation
- A preservation archive for Foundation artists.
- Warm paper background, ink-black typography, muted neutrals, restrained green and blue utility accents
- Editorial serif headline plus mono metadata feel

Best-fit direction

Museum-grade restraint plus archival framing plus editorial poster composition.

Avoid:

- Crypto or NFT visual clichés
- Neon gradients as the main identity
- Cloud-backup, chain, hexagon, or padlock icons
- Playful mascot energy

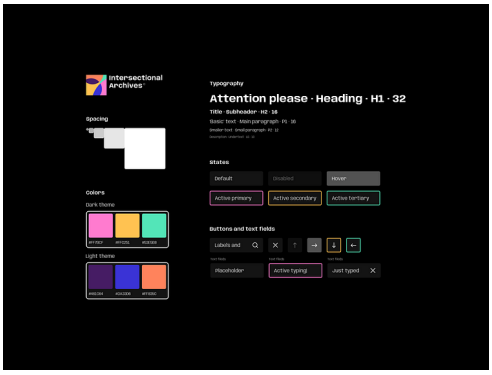
Warm paper	Paper alt	Ink black	Archive green	Slate blue
#FAFAF7	#F4F1EA	#111111	#2E6F4A	#2F4A7D

Built from the current site voice and palette in src/app/page.tsx and src/styles/globals.css.

REFERENCE SET

Visual references to guide generation

These are not for copying literally. They define the tone, structure, and level of restraint that fits Foundation Archive best.



1. Identity system clarity

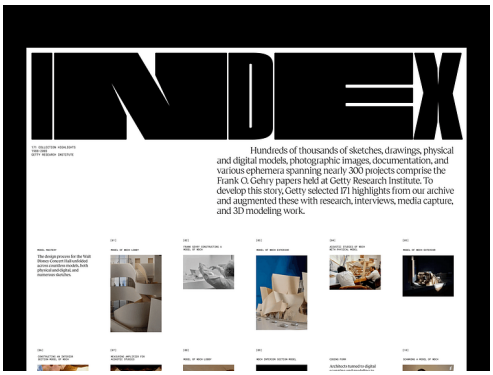
Useful for clean mark systems, compact lockups, and disciplined identity application.

Source: https://dribbble.com/shots/26998421-Intersectional-Archives-design-system

2. Museum logo reduction

Useful for a serious, timeless mark with strong negative space and institutional confidence.

Source: https://dribbble.com/shots/6097905-Thorvaldsens-Museum



3. Archival index composition

Useful for the OG image: editorial hierarchy, archival layout, and structured information density.

Source: https://dribbble.com/shots/26170045-Architectural-Archive-Index-Branding

4. Warm editorial poster tone

Useful for paper texture, quiet luxury, and a balanced headline-to-image relationship.

Source: https://dribbble.com/shots/26126694-Poster-design-in-editorial-style

GENERATION PROMPTS

Copy-paste prompts for ChatGPT image generation

Editorial • Preservation • Museum-grade • Warm paper • Serif + mono

Optional alternate energy

This one is more expressive and campaign-like. Good as a secondary reference for motion or a temporary launch visual, but not as strong as the core brand direction.

5. Bright archive campaign language

Useful only in moderation for liveliness and historical-tech energy.

Source: https://dribbble.com/shots/16106759-Internet-Archive-turns-25-campaign-branding-and-art-direction

Logo prompt

Design a logo for “Foundation Archive,” an independent preservation archive for Foundation artists. The concept should feel like a cultural institution and a living digital system at once: four archival corner marks form an open square or frame around a small preserved artwork tile or spark, subtly suggesting protection, indexing, and retrieval. Pair the mark with a refined editorial serif wordmark and restrained mono metadata accents. Use a warm paper, ink-black, stone, and muted green or slate palette. Style: timeless, precise, quiet, museum-grade, high negative space, subtle print grain. Avoid folders, clouds, padlocks, chains, hexagons, neon gradients, mascots, and generic NFT or web3 clichés. Show a primary mark, a horizontal lockup, a small favicon version, and monochrome versions.

OG image prompt

Create a 1200x630 open graph image for “Foundation Archive.” Use a premium editorial poster composition on warm off-white paper with subtle grain. Large serif headline: “A preservation archive for Foundation artists.” Surround the headline with a restrained grid of three to four abstract art tiles or framed placeholders, each held by archival corner marks, with tiny mono caption lines suggesting artist, title, and CID metadata. Add thin rules, registration marks, muted green or slate status dots, and a faint sense of networked preservation without looking sci-fi. Mood: calm, trustworthy, cultural, contemporary, archival. Keep the headline highly legible at link-preview size with generous margins. Avoid busy collage chaos, tiny unreadable labels, crypto clichés, coins, neon, and literal cloud-backup graphics.

One-line creative direction: Foundation Archive should look like an art institution that quietly knows how to keep culture alive online.